NOTES FOR VISITORS FROM NEW ZEALAND

Issued by

THE HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR NEW ZEALAND

LONDON

NEW BUILDING

A new building is in the course of erection to house the New Zealand Government Offices in London. It will be known as NEW ZEALAND HOUSE and is located at the corner of Haymarket and Pall Mall. It will be ready for occupation in the later part of 1962.

INTRODUCTION

The High Commissioner is the representative of the New Zealand Government in the United Kingdom. He is responsible for a wide range of activities. Brief details of the functions of the High Commissioner's Office are set out later in this booklet.

The High Commissioner's Office also provides certain services for New Zealanders visiting the United Kingdom; and this booklet has been prepared for their information. It supplements the various guide books available from book shops, book-stalls and other sources.

Every effort has been made to ensure that the information shown is correct at the date of publication. However, some of it is subject to change from time to time.

The booklet includes some basic information about New Zealand. Visitors may find this useful when discussing their country with English friends.

PASSPORTS AND VISAS. Visitors intending to travel to Europe should ensure that all visas are in order before departure. The Passports Office on the fourth floor of New Zealand House can advise visitors on all passport and visa requirements.

The possession of a New Zealand passport does not exempt the holder from compliance with any immigration regulations in force in British or foreign countries, nor from the necessity of obtaining necessary visas from the Consular Offices of the countries concerned. If the appropriate visas are not obtained in advance the traveller is liable to be refused entry. Countries for which visas are not required are shown on page 21.

COUNTRIES FOR WHICH VISAS ARE NOT REQUIRED. Visas are not required for the countries set out in this paragraph for visits up to two months in the case of Belgium and up to three months in the other cases: Austria, Belgium (two months), Denmark, France, Germany (Federal Republic, including West Berlin), Greece, Italy, Liechenstein, Luxembourg, Monaco, Morocco, Netherlands, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tunisia and Turkey.

LOSS OF PASSPORT. If a passport is lost or destroyed, the circumstances should be reported immediately to the nearest Representative of New Zealand, or to the nearest British authority. The local police should also be advised. New passports can be issued in such circumstances only after exhaustive enquiries. The New Zealand Representatives in Paris, The Hague and Geneva issue passports.

Travellers in Europe are frequently required to produce their passports for inspection when registering at hotels and hostels. Losses have resulted when the passports have been retained by the management overnight or longer. This practice should be avoided and the passport kept always in the holder's possession.

NATURALISED BRITISH SUBJECTS. Naturalised British subjects are advised that in their country of origin they may be regarded as still possessing the nationality of that country. They should, therefore, make sure before entering their country of origin that the authorities regard them as having ceased to be nationals of that country.

GENERAL INFORMATION

NATIONAL INSURANCE SCHEME: New Zealanders are advised to enquire at one of the local offices of the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance whether they are liable to pay National Insurance contributions. In general, unless they take up employment or were previously insured under the United Kingdom Scheme, they are exempt for the first six months after their arrival.

Claims for United Kingdom benefits, by virtue of the Reciprocal Agreements with New Zealand on Social Security and Family Allowances, should be made through a local Pensions and National Insurance Office except that applications for the Unemployment Benefit should be made to the nearest Employment Exchange. Details of the Reciprocal Agreements may be obtained from the Pensions Officer, Sixth floor, New Zealand House.

As a general rule New Zealand Social Security benefits are not paid while the beneficiaries are absent from New Zealand. On their return to New Zealand the arrears may be paid provided their absence did not exceed one year and was wholly or mainly for the purpose of visiting the United Kingdom. Beneficiaries who expect to be away from New Zealand for longer than twelve months should apply immediately on arrival for the appropriate National Insurance benefit but it should be borne in mind that, although they may have received the age benefit before they left New Zealand, men are not entitled to the Retirement Pension in the United Kingdom unless they are 65 years of age or over.

GENERAL INFORMATION

NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE. The National Health Service in Great Britain (but not Northern Ireland) is available to all New Zealanders who fall ill after their arrival here. Free treatment may be obtained only if the patient is registered with a National Health Service doctor. Main Post Offices, Public Libraries and Town Hall Information Bureaux keep lists of panel doctors in their areas. The patient applies to the doctor of his choice for a place on his list, and, if accepted by the doctor, becomes entitled to free attention on completion of the required forms.

The free facilities of this service are not intended for those who come to the United Kingdom for the purpose of obtaining specialist or hospital treatment, and hospitals are not permitted to make advance arrangements for the admission of such persons except as private patients undertaking to pay the full cost of treatment and accommodation.

WELFARE. When in distress or extreme financial difficulty visitors may seek advice from the Welfare Officer in the Passports Section on the fourth floor of New Zealand House.

ACCOMMODATION. New Zealand House does not arrange accommodation for visitors. However, because of the difficult situation in London, the Reception Room maintains files of some addresses to assist visitors.

Accommodation in London is a real problem all the year round. It is particularly difficult during the Summer months when even expensive accommodation is hard to secure.

Service flats can be booked in advance for long or short periods; but rents are in the high price bracket. It is seldom, however, that the more reasonably priced accommodation (unserviced flats, bed-sitting rooms, etc.) can be booked in advance; and, generally, landlords prefer long lets. Prices vary according to the standard of accommodation, locality and proximity to the West End.

Visitors requiring the assistance of an accommodation agent are advised to go to a chartered estate agent.

A list of these is available in the Reception Room.

There are many Agencies which will arrange hotel bookings; and the following official Agency will, without charge, assist visitors to find hotel accommodation in London.

London Hotels' Information Service,
88 Brook Street, W.1. Tel.: MAYfair 5414.

EMPLOYMENT. New Zealand House does not arrange employment. However, the Reception Room has a list of employment agencies and some general information on employment prospects.

LOST PROPERTY. Enquiries for property left in buses and underground railways should be made at the Lost Property Office, 200 Baker Street, N.W.1., adjoining the Baker Street Station: Monday to Friday, 10.00 a.m. to 6.00 p.m.; Saturday, 10.00 a.m. to 1.00 p.m. Enquiries may be made by letter.

Enquiries for property left on the railways should be made at the main office of the region concerned.

Property left in taxis is taken to the Metropolitan Police Lost Property Office, 109 Lambeth Road, S.E.1. Enquiries should be made there—weekdays: 10.00 a.m. to 4.00 p.m., Saturday, 10.00 a.m. to 1.00 p.m.

For property lost on the streets enquiries should be made at the Police Station nearest to the place where the loss is thought to have occurred.

Personal property should not be left unattended in New Zealand House. No responsibility can be accepted by the New Zealand Government for losses.

THEATRE, ETC., TICKETS. New Zealand House does not arrange tickets or reservations for theatres, travel, etc. These are available from agencies about which the Reception Staff can supply information. A booklet, THEATREGOER'S LONDON, is available and the Reception Staff will advise where it may be obtained.

LUGGAGE. Suitcases and other articles of baggage may not be stored at New Zealand House; nor may they be consigned to visitors c/o New Zealand House. There is a Left Luggage Office 200 yards away at Charing Cross main station fronting the Strand. It is open daily from 6 a.m. to 11.15 p.m. The Reception Staff has addresses of firms which will handle and store luggage.

BUSINESS APPOINTMENTS. Because of the scale and diversity of many United Kingdom business firms, visitors may find difficulty in consulting executives at short notice. Much time can be saved by arranging an appointment beforehand.

Advice on business practices and conditions in the United Kingdom and Europe may be obtained from the Senior Trade Commissioner, whose offices are in the Adelphi Building, John Adam Street, W.C.2.

POST OFFICE WITHDRAWALS. The Post office permits depositors to withdraw on demand up to £10 at any Post Office in the United Kingdom. The pass-book is retained for scrutiny if, within a week of the first demand, a second demand of over £3 is made.

CASHING OF CHEQUES. Cheques cannot be cashed at New Zealand House.

TIPPING. In the United Kingdom and Europe tipping for service is a much more general practice than it is in New Zealand and most people accept it. Waiters, hairdressers, taxi-drivers, porters, etc. normally expect a tip. The usual tip is 10 per cent of the bill or charge; but in a more expensive restaurant or hotel 15 per cent might be expected. A taxi-driver expects at least sixpence, and luggage porters a shilling a case. Some hotels add a service charge of 10 per cent or 15 per cent to the account; and in this case the visitor should tip only for any special service.

WAR GRAVES. New Zealand House has records of the burial places of members of the New Zealand Forces who lost their lives in the two world wars. Visitors requiring particulars of any graves should apply to Room 14, second floor, New Zealand House for 1914–1919, or to the appropriate Armed Service Branch in the Adelphi Building in respect of 1939–1945.

U.K. INCOME TAX. In general, income arising from sources in the United Kingdom, including temporary employment is subject to United Kingdom Income Tax. This means that while a visitor from New Zealand may retain his residential qualification for New Zealand tax he may, at the same time, be liable as a United Kingdom resident for United Kingdom tax.
A person is deemed to be resident in the United Kingdom for any Income Tax year (commencing 6 April) in which he is in the United Kingdom for a period or periods totalling 6 months or more. He may also become resident where his visits are for less than 6 months but are habitual and substantial.
Further information on taxation may be obtained from the Finance Branch on the third floor of New Zealand House or by letter addressed to the Secretary, Board of Inland Revenue, Somerset House, London, W.C.2.

U.K. PURCHASE TAX. In certain circumstances persons leaving the United Kingdom may purchase goods (including clothing) free of United Kingdom purchase tax. Visitors should enquire at any of the big stores.

FAMILY TREES. Visitors seeking information about their forbears should enquire at:

Somerset House, Strand, W.C.2. Tel.: HOLborn 7641.

Society of Genealogists, 37 Harrington Gardens, S.W.7. Tel.: FREmantle 7054. The Society has a library which may be used on payment of a small fee.

The functions of the High Commissioner's Office are wide and varied. The High Commissioner is responsible for the whole of the work of the Office and is assisted by the Deputy High Commissioner. The Office is organised into a number of Branches.

AGRICULTURE: The Agricultural Adviser is concerned with results of animal research, animal health, meat inspection, quarantine and livestock matters generally. His duties also cover the field of general agriculture, farm machinery and seed trade.

ARMED SERVICES: The Royal New Zealand Navy, Army, and Air Force are represented in London by Liaison Staffs who maintain close contact with their respective Service Ministries and the Ministry of Defence. They keep New Zealand informed on all developments in tactical doctrine and technique, organisation, new equipments and weapons, as well as representing New Zealand at exercises, demonstrations and conferences. In addition, they carry out the purchase of service equipment and administer New Zealand service personnel in the United Kingdom.

AUDIT: The Audit Branch is responsible to the Controller and Auditor-General in New Zealand for the audit of all financial transactions in the High Commissioner's Office and in the Producer Boards in London.

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE

CENTRAL: This Branch handles the various matters arising in the general administration of the High Commissioner's Office.

CUSTOMS: The main function of this Branch is to verify the correctness of invoices for goods exported to New Zealand from the United Kingdom and Europe. This involves the inspection and examination of all documents which support particulars shown on invoices. The Customs Adviser is also concerned in G.A.T.T. negotiations.

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS: The main task of this Branch is to assist the High Commissioner and the Deputy High Commissioner in maintaining contact with the Government of the United Kingdom on matters of Commonwealth relations and foreign affairs, which have become increasingly important to New Zealand in recent years. Its chief "opposite numbers" in Britain are the Commonwealth Relations Office and the Foreign Office, and it co-operates closely with them in the system of Commonwealth consultation.

The Branch also assists in negotiations between the Governments of New Zealand and the United Kingdom on economic and trade questions. It keeps in close touch with Government Departments in the United Kingdom, and with economic representatives of Commonwealth countries. It represents New Zealand at meetings of various Commonwealth committees which help New Zealand to keep abreast of events of economic interest not only in the United Kingdom but also in other parts of the Commonwealth and in other parts of the world, especially Western Europe.

ENGINEERING SERVICES: The majority of materials purchased in the United Kingdom and Europe for the Railways and other Government departments in New Zealand has to be inspected during and immediately after manufacture before authority can be given for shipment. This is the function of the Advisory Engineer. The services of inspectors resident in the United Kingdom and elsewhere are used to ensure that the products bought comply fully with specifications. The Branch also advises Purchasing Branch on technical matters.

FINANCE: The Finance Branch attends to all matters of New Zealand Government finance in the United Kingdom, such as the raising of public loans, public investments, the transfer of moneys to and from New Zealand, and the various payments in London which amount to several million pounds each year.

The range of financial activities in London covers all New Zealand Government Departments and the Branch is concerned in the financial aspect of major contracts placed in the United Kingdom. It also gives advice on taxation, pensions and allotments and handles business on behalf of the Post Office Savings Bank, the Government Life and the State Fire Insurance Departments.

INSPECTION OF DAIRY PRODUCTS: The function of the Inspector of Dairy Products is to inspect and report on butter, cheese and other milk products exported from New Zealand to the United Kingdom. New developments in European countries in all fields affecting the dairy industry are investigated and reported to New Zealand.

MIGRATION: This Branch is responsible for the recruiting of Government-assisted emigrants to New Zealand and for the administration of the Government Immigration Scheme. It also deals with the question of entry permits for aliens who wish to go to New Zealand.

PUBLIC RELATIONS: No channel of publicity is neglected to increase goodwill and to make New Zealand better known abroad. This is the responsibility of the Public Relations Branch which organises displays and exhibitions, handles the commercial distribution and hiring of New Zealand films, the loan of photographs from a comprehensive picture library, and the preparation and distribution of news and feature articles to the British press and magazines. All press inquiries are dealt with by this Branch, which also maintains close liaison with the B.B.C. sound and television services.

PUBLIC TRUST: The London Representative transacts business on behalf of the Public Trustee for clients in the United Kingdom and Europe. Visiting New Zealanders may take the opportunity to discuss with him matters concerning wills and also estates administered by the Public Trustee.

PURCHASING: This Branch undertakes purchasing and shipping of stores for Government departments in New Zealand and Western Samoa. It handles a large volume of orders and during the year ended 31 March, 1961, arranged for the shipment of 12,200 consignments of goods.

SCIENTIFIC: The functions of this Branch is to maintain contact with research organisations in the United Kingdom and procure information for the New Zealand Government on scientific matters in general. The Scientific Adviser represents the Government on various scientific bodies in Great Britain.

TRADE AND COMMERCE: The primary object of this Branch is to facilitate and expand New Zealand's exports in the United Kingdom and Europe. This aim is achieved in the commercial sphere by making trade surveys of potential markets, assessing the possibilities for New Zealand products and producers. The Branch is in regular contact with United Kingdom and European governments regarding import quotas, tariffs, and other regulations affecting the sales of New Zealand products.

The Branch is also actively concerned with international economic developments and an important part of its work is the representation of New Zealand at major economic conferences both in the United Kingdom and Europe. Other duties include locating sources of supply for New Zealand producer and consumer requirements, arranging for the release of raw materials to New Zealand when these are in short supply, answering trade enquiries on New Zealand commerce and industry, and reporting to New Zealand on a wide variety of commercial and economic topics.

TRAVEL: The promotion of tourist travel from Britain and Europe to New Zealand is the main function of the Travel Commissioner's Office. Besides handling travel advertising and promotion the staff plans itineraries for New Zealand tours. Visitors who meet persons expressing an interest in visiting New Zealand are invited to seek the assistance of the Branch.

MARKETING OF

The marketing of New Zealand's primary produce is an important feature of New Zealand commerce in London. Great Britain has been New Zealand's best customer in this sphere since the red-letter day for primary producers in 1882 when the first refrigerated cargo of meat and dairy produce was loaded at Port Chalmers, New Zealand. Marketing is in the hands of the organisations mentioned below.

NEW ZEALAND MEAT PRODUCERS' BOARD, Chancery House, 53/64 Chancery Lane, W.C.2. Telephone: HOLborn 7904-7.

Meat is an important New Zealand export and the New Zealand Meat Producers' Board, through its London Office, maintains a constant supervision of shipments reaching the United Kingdom to ensure that the meat reaches the market in a satisfactory condition. In this respect, Inspectors are employed to see that proper landing facilities are provided and satisfactory discharge of meat is carried out at the ports. Travelling Representatives maintain constant vigilance over retail shops. A marketing information service is provided for the Board's Head Office in Wellington. This keeps the Board advised of market conditions and trends in the United Kingdom.

NEW ZEALAND PRODUCE

Much time and thought are given to the enterprises which will extend markets for New Zealand produce in Great Britain. The produce organisations are responsible for the national advertising and publicity which includes television and general press advertising, exhibitions and trade displays. The High Commissioner's Office itself loses no opportunity of bringing New Zealand produce to the attention of the British public.

The London Office also assists visiting New Zealand Trade Missions during their meat negotiations with the United Kingdom Government. It also participates in exploring new markets in Europe and elsewhere.

The Board is responsible for the extensive trade and consumer advertising and publicity in the United Kingdom which is designed to maintain and increase the demand for New Zealand meat.

NEW ZEALAND DAIRY PRODUCTION AND MARKETING BOARD, St. Olaf House, Tooley Street, S.E.1. Telephone: HOP 4033.

The New Zealand Dairy Production and Marketing Board acquires New Zealand butter and cheese intended for export and controls the marketing arrangements. The Head Office of the Board is in New Zealand. The importance of the Board's work in Great Britain can be gauged by the fact that of New Zealand's exportable surplus of butter and cheese approximately 90 per cent is sold in Great Britain.

NEW ZEALAND APPLE AND PEAR MARKETING BOARD, Wellington House, 125–130 Strand, W.C.2. Telephone: TEMple Bar 4901.

The New Zealand Apple and Pear Marketing Board is the sole marketing authority for all apples and pears grown in New Zealand. Of this crop, which now exceeds four million cases a year, half is sold in 23 markets throughout the world, with the United Kingdom still the main traditional market.

NEW ZEALAND WOOL COMMISSION (London Agency), 13–14 Basinghall Street, E.C.2. Telephone: METropolitan 0801.

The New Zealand Wool Commission was established in December, 1951, to give effect to a plan designed to assure minimum prices to growers for all wool sold in the New Zealand and London auctions. Under this scheme the Commission fixes minimum prices each season for all grades of New Zealand wool. The London Agency of the Commission is responsible for the application of the Commission's minimum prices to New Zealand wool offered at London autcions on growers' account.

INTERNATIONAL WOOL SECRETARIAT, Dorland House, 18–20 Regent Street, S.W.1.
Telephone: TRAfalgar 4651.

New Zealand is a partner in the International Wool Secretariat, a wool-growers' organisation whose function is to develop wool promotion and research on a world-wide scale.

The I.W.S. was formed early in 1937 by the Australian Wool Bureau and the Wool Boards of New Zealand and South Africa and has today branches in many parts of the world. The Headquarters of the world organisation are situated in London near Piccadilly Circus. Woolgrowers are invited to visit the International Wool Secretariat when they wish to learn more about wool promotion activities.

The activities of the Secretariat cover the widest possible field. Wool research is encouraged; consumer advertising of all kinds is undertaken; promotional efforts are sponsored; regular news bulletins and a service of features and photographs which is unique of its kind are issued; and I.W.S. collaborates with the haute couture of all the important fashion countries of the world.

In the sphere of education I.W.S. undertakes lecturing in colleges and to adult societies, and carries out also programmes of sales training in the stores. In economics its experts produce authoritative reviews of the world wool situation as well as up-to-date statistics covering all sections of the industry.
